

What are the immediate needs for Africa?

"Science and technology for sustainable development"

- ❖ Quality science education at all levels;
- ❖ Quality scientific research, knowledge, information, technology and its preservation and dissemination;
- ❖ Conservation and sound management of the environment, ecosystems and biodiversity;
- ❖ Reliable food security;
- ❖ Reliable health care;
- ❖ Healthier shelter;
- ❖ Reliable transport, communication and IT infrastructure;
- ❖ Manageable and relevant Industries;
- ❖ Reliable availability of earth resources, i.e. clean air, clean and safe water, energy, construction materials, agricultural and industrial minerals;
- ❖ Prediction and mitigation of natural hazards, such as earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, tsunamis, landslides and floods;
- ❖ Good governance; maintenance of internal and global peace and security; and accelerated economic growth;
- ❖ Active participation in national, regional and international scientific and technological innovation programmes.